Alexander Breh has a natural desire to help others, whether through mission work, volunteering or his career in recruiting. Alex came to Lucas Group in 2018, working with leading employers and high-level manufacturing talent throughout the Cincinnati area. In his role, he pairs top professionals with ideal careers within mid-tier to Fortune 500 corporations. By helping people find fulfilling careers, Alex is able to address the hiring needs of his clients and create synergistic matches. A self-proclaimed “work horse,” he believes that success comes by hard work and dedication—two key traits that he brings to his recruiting practice.

Previous to Lucas Group, Alex spent a year-and-a-half with Total Quality Logistics. While there, he worked directly with the type of people that he is placing now on a day-to-day basis. This experience gives him a unique perspective and allows him to connect with his candidates on a deeper level while understanding the true needs of his clients. Before TQL, Alex was a high school teacher and a consultant for the Dayton Art Institute. His background, perseverance and work ethic position him to be a pivotal member of the Lucas Group team.

In his free time, Alex takes advantage of the outdoor by hiking and kayaking. He holds a B.S. in Organizational Leadership and Marketing from Wright State University.
