Successful recruiters possess the perfect balance of competitiveness, approachability and drive. A seasoned recruiter with an impeccable track record of success, Jennifer Bowers has the ideal traits that have made her an industry “go to.” Joining Lucas Group in 2016 as a Managing Partner in the Manufacturing practice, Jennifer runs a full recruiting desk along with leads a growing team of tenured executive recruiters. With a focus on industrial manufacturing, food & beverage, aerospace and other manufacturing sectors, Jennifer partners with mid-tier to Fortune 500 corporations to address their critical staffing needs with transcendent manufacturing talent. Realizing the impact she can have on others’ lives and careers, Jennifer diligently works to find the ideal match for every placement.

Jennifer came to Lucas Group with nearly a decade of experience in the staffing industry. From health care to construction, manufacturing to finance, she is a proven leader in all management, recruitment and sales functions. Jennifer began her career as a recruiter in Southern California where she was promoted to a large operation in the Boston area. She was later given the opportunity to run a startup with Adecco in San Diego, where she now calls home. Throughout her career, she has recruited up to 300 workers a day for a medical device company and has led teams to success in every capacity.

Away from the office, Jennifer and her wife are involved in the community with various multiple sclerosis events and Women in Business groups. A craft beer and sports fan, she believes that you miss 100% of the shots you don’t take and that football season is the best season. Jennifer holds a Bachelor’s of Business Administration from Colorado State University.
