Kristine Mansour believes in taking risks, which led her from the professional sports industry to executive recruiting in 2014. As a Senior Executive Search Consultant in the Sales & Marketing Division at Lucas Group, Kristine works with mid-tier to Fortune 500 clients to address their critical staffing needs by sourcing the highest caliber talent in the market. Through developing long-term relationships with C-level executives and senior hiring authorities, she is able to place exceptional sales and marketing professionals within leading companies throughout all industries in the Dallas-Fort Worth area. By acting as a resource for her clients, Kristine's goal is to add value to their overall businesses and improve their bottom lines by hiring transcendent talent.

Kristine's career includes a robust portfolio of achievements and experience ranging from sports marketing, corporate development and large-scale event management to contributing significant revenue growth during her time with the Houston Rockets, Dallas Mavericks, American Airlines Center and the Dallas Cowboys, among others. While with the Houston Rockets, she secured a major, seven-figure, multi-year sponsorship for the team, which is just one example of her commitment to exceeding her clients' goals and expectations. Combining her love of business development and sales with the ability to help others succeed, Kristine has found her niche in executive recruiting and has quickly made her mark on the industry.
