

Media Availability for Carolina King Chief People Officer, Human Resources

Carolina King is your go-to source on Human Resources topics and trends, including Recruiting, Hiring, Developing, and Retention. A seasoned HR business partner, Carolina believes companies develop high-performing teams by nurturing leadership skills and fostering a positive, inspiring culture, and she is recognized throughout the industry as a capable, trusted advisor on complex HR matters.

As Chief People Officer, Carolina oversees both strategic direction and daily operations for the Human Resources organization, supporting the firm's 550+ Associates nationwide. Adept at developing meaningful, value-driven relationships across business sectors, she leverages professional insights to shape business strategy, align organizational capabilities and strengthen company culture.

Carolina brings a variety of industry and functional experience to HR's complex, ever-changing and highly personal environment. Prior to joining Lucas Group in 2004, she provided organizational and leadership development expertise for top global companies including CNN, AT&T and Siemens Energy & Automation, Inc.

She is a frequent writer and media contributor on Human Resources and its many opportunities, challenges and trends. Among her recent articles and interviews:

- HR Experts Reveal What They Really Do With Your Exit Interview Info—And How Honest You Should Be (CNBC)
- How To Negotiate Your Benefits Package—Not Just Your Salary (Hello Giggles)

If you are interested in speaking with Carolina, please contact:

Adam Schick, The Wilbert Group

404.510.9597 | aschick@thewilbertgroup.com